CARIBBEAN STUD POKER IS BASED ON FIVE-CARD STUD.

Players bet against the house and not against each other, with the opportunity to play for progressive jackpot.

Once all players have placed the opening bet or “Ante”, they are dealt five (5) cards face down, from left to right.

The dealer also receives five cards, the first four are dealt face down and the fifth face up.

After looking at their cards, each player has two options; to fold or to bet.

If any player decides to bet, a wager (Double the amount of the Ante), must be placed in the “Bet” Box.

When all players have folded or made a bet, the dealers cards are turned over.

The dealer must have an Ace-King or higher to open. If not only ANTE wages are paid and the hand is over.

If the dealer has Ace-King or higher, the dealer’s best possible poker hand is declared and all better hands are paid and all losing bets are collected.

All players who have placed an Ante wager have the option of participating in the “progressive jackpot”, by placing an additional $1.00 fixed bet in the slot provided in front of each box, prior to the dealing of the cards. A light indicates that a progressive jackpot bet has been made.

Regardless of the dealer’s hand, if the player’s hand qualifies for a jackpot prize, according to the table below, that hand wins a jackpot prize, in addition to the regular payment to a winning bet.
